HOSPITAL SHIP GOES DOWN IN AEGEAN SEA

Fifty Persons Known to Be Lost--Had 1200 Persons Aboard at Time of Disaster

(Special to The Herald)
London, Nov. 22.—The British hospital ship Britannic, one of the biggest vessels in the world has been sunk in the Aegean sea with a loss of 50 lives. There were about 1200 persons aboard the hospital ship. The Britannic was used for soldiers engaged in the Balkan campaign. The Admiralty in announcing the disaster said that in addition to those known to be lost, 28 men were missing. The place where the accident took place was in the Zea channel which stretches off the Zea island, in the Grecian Archipelago. The fact that the hospital ship was near land probably accounted for the fact that the loss of life was not greater. The dispatch from Salonika does not state the cause of the accident.

The Aegean sea has been mined by the Allies. The Britannic was built for the White Star line, but was taken over by the government for a hospital ship. The vessel was 852 feet long, 94 feet wide with a depth of 55 feet. Her hull was of steel and she was driven by three screws.

VENISON SUPPER AT METHODIST CHURCH

A venison supper was held at the Methodist church vestry on Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society. It was a great success and a large number were present to sample the deer meat which was the gift of Mr. G. B. Chadwick. Mrs. Chadwick acted as chairman of the supper and was assisted by an energetic committee.

REGARDED AS IMPORTANT ACHIEVEMENT

Austro-German Offensive Has Entered a New Phase in Roumania.

Berlin, Nov. 22.—The Austro-German offensive against the Roumanians has entered a new phase according to the military critics of the Overseas Agency, in an analyzed article on the situation. The cutting of communications on the Bucharest-Asoyia railroad is regarded as a more important achievement than Von Mackensen's drive through Dobruja. From November 1 to 13 the Austro-German forces captured 139 officers, 19,388 men, 26 cannon and 72 machine guns. Many of the civilian population joined the soldiers.

VISITORS FROM MANCHESTER.

At the meeting of Damon Lodge, No. 9, Knights of Pythias, on Tuesday evening the members were pleasantly surprised by a visit from Past Grand Chancellor Charles A. Frost, Captain Henry Milburn and Brothers Ora Conery and George Fenniman of Queen City Lodge of Manchester. Interesting remarks were made by the visitors.

AUSTRIAN EMPEROR IS DEAD AT VIENNA

EMPEROR FRANCIS JOSEPH I

Aged Ruler, Worn Out By War's Vicissitudes, Dies on the Eve of Sharing Throne With Heir

London, Nov. 22.—Emperor Francis Joseph died last night at 9 o'clock at Schoenbrunn estate, according to a Reuters despatch from Vienna by way of Amsterdam.

Archduke Charles Francis, grand nephew of Emperor Francis Joseph, became heir to the throne of Austria-Hungary by the assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand prior to the outbreak of the war. He has been in command of the Austrian armies on various fronts during the past two years.

Archduke Charles Francis was born on August 17, 1857. His wife was Princess Zita of the Bourbon House of Parma. His father was Archduke Otto who was the younger brother of Francis Ferdinand.

The first intimation received in London that Emperor Francis Joseph's health was again the subject of solicitude was contained in a despatch dated November 12 coming from Vienna news agency, which reported that the emperor had been suffering for some days from a slight catarrhal affection.

Subsequent reports from various sources more or less conflicting, reported that his condition was becoming worse, but none of them indicated that his illness threatened to reach a critical state, and from Vienna came assurances that he was still able to give audiences to one or more ministers daily.

What gave some credence to the speculation that his condition was much graver than the official bulletins indicated was the report which still lacks official confirmation, that it had been decided to associate the heir to the throne, Archduke Charles Francis in the government of the country and that he was to assume the position on December 2 on the 65th anniversary of the emperor's accession to the throne.

So far as is known here, Archduke Charles is still at the front in command of the army.

The keenest interest and the greatest sympathy marked the attention of the population of the monarchy to the health of Emperor Francis Joseph. The daily bulletins were anxiously awaited by all.

The Associated Press learns from the best sources that the aged patient did not make the labor of his physicians easy, as he was not inclined to carry out the orders laid down for him, insisting for instance, on giving daily audiences, some of them lasting an hour.

TAKE STEPS TO FORM AERIAL COAST DEFENSE

War Department Opens Bids For 150 Hydroaeroplanes of a More Powerful Type Than Any Yet Used

Washington, Nov. 22.—The war department today opened bids for 150 hydroaeroplanes to cost approximately $5,000,000 which will form the first comprehensive aerial defense for the U. S. coasts. The machines are to be divided between the Atlantic and the Pacific coasts.

The machines, bi-planes and tri-planes are to be capable of carrying a pilot and an observer and two machine guns, one in front and one in the rear. They must from 170 to 300 horsepower (with two motors) and be capable of a substantiated flight of six and one half hours. The specifications call for ability to rise from rough water, against a 7-mile an hour wind, in one and one-half minutes and with no wind, to rise within 1,000 feet from the starting point.

The aviation section of the signal corps contemplates the acquisition of enough of the machines to man the coast defenses of both Atlantic and

DEMOCRATS OF NEWMARKET CELEBRATE

Have Large Parade, Burn Red Fire and Give Townspeople a Free Show

The Democrats of Newmarket on Tuesday evening celebrated the reelection of President Wilson and the state victory in a most fitting manner and practically the entire population of this thriving town turned out to witness the celebration. The parade was under the marshaling of Chief of Police George M. Mathes, and his aids were M. J. Griffin, private secretary to Senator Henry F. Hollis, and Representative Albert F. Priest. Music for the parade was furnished by the Newmarket Cornet Band and a drum corps. In the parade were the members of the Naturalized Polish Club in their natty uniform and the Lafayette Club, each organization turning out with well filled ranks. The line of march was about two miles long and all along the line red fire was burned in liberal quantities. Many residences along the line of march were illuminated and the crowd on Main street was the largest seen for many years.

It was intended to have speaking at the town hall, after the parade, but the inability to secure speakers caused the committee in charge to change their plans and instead the doors of the Star theatre were thrown open to the public and the townspeople were treated to a free movie show. The celebration was in charge of the Democratic town committee and they can well feel pleased with the success of their efforts.

KIDNAPPED TO HALT WEDDING

Relatives Hide 86-Year Old
Nashua Man From Fiancee of Sixty-Four.

Nashua, Nov. 21.—Cornelius W. Chamberlain, aged 86, who last week procured a license to wed Mrs. Mary A. Thompson, aged 64, of Lowell, now residing here, left his home yesterday with Sheriff Edwin D. Plauders and his whereabouts are unknown to his bride-to-be.

It is understood that the move was taken on the initiative by Mr. Chamberlain's brother, Ralph Chamberlain, of Chestnut street, Manchester, and two nieces, one living in Hudson and the other in Lowell, Mass. Mr. Chamberlain's wife died about a year ago, and it is said that the relatives objected to his marrying again.

Mr. Chamberlain had been under the care of Mrs. Thompson, who is a nurse, since the death of his wife, but she was not at home when the sheriff called yesterday. It is understood that Mr. Chamberlain agreed to accompany the sheriff after some discussion. When parties returned at a later hour for clothing, belonging to Mr. Chamberlain, Mrs. Thompson had returned home, and refused to comply with their requests.

While no move has yet been made by Mrs. Thompson it is understood that action may be taken to regain the missing bridegroom—either, as Marcel Therault has been engaged as Mrs. Thompson's counsel. It is said if such action is taken the relatives of the aged man will petition the courts for the appointment of a conservator.

Mr. Chamberlain is a veteran of the Civil war and draws a good sized pension.

KITTERY POINT

OUCH! LAME BACK. RUB LUMBAGO OR BACKACHE AWAY

Rub pain right out with small trial bottle of old, penetrating
"St. Jacob's Oil."

Kidneys cause Backache? Not! They have no nerves, therefore cannot cause pain. Listen! Your backache is caused by lumbago, sciatica, or a strain, and treating "St. Jacob's Oil." Rub it right on your painful back, and instantly the soreness, stiffness and lameness disappears. Don't stay crippled! Get a small trial bottle of "St. Jacob's Oil" from your druggist and rub it on. A moment after it is applied you'll wonder what became of the backache or lumbago pain.

Rub old honest "St. Jacob's Oil" whenever you have sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism or sprains as it is absolutely harmless and don't burn the skin.

KITTERY

Rev. and Mrs. William M. Forgrave of this avenue are entertaining Dr. J. M. Frost of Portland for a few days. There was a large attendance at the Methodist church on Tuesday evening and the services were much enjoyed. The two speakers, Dr. J. T. J. Smith of Chicago, and Rev. Elmer W. Leslie of Cambridge, both gave very fine addresses and the solo by Mr. Stewart Humphreys of Portsmouth was excellent. Many were present from Portsmouth, Elliot and Kittery Point.

Choir rehearsal of the Second Christian church will be held Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the vestry.

Miss Cora Sterling of West road was the recent guest of her aunt, Mrs. Mary Young of Portsmouth.

The Rebekah degree staff will hold a rehearsal in Wentworth hall Thursday evening.

Master at Arms Percy Knott, who recently suffered a shock, paralyzing his right side, still remains about the same at his home at the Intervale.

Mr. Ira Keene of Locke's Cove has returned to his duties on the navy yard after a short vacation.

The Rebekahs are giving a sale and entertainment this Wednesday afternoon and evening in Wentworth hall. The Elric Club are to entertain this evening.

Mrs. Oscar Clark of Kittery Point very pleasantly entertained the Ladies' Circle of the Congregational church Tuesday afternoon.

Word has been received from the hunting party which is spending two weeks at Magalloway Plantation, saying that the snow is deep and deer are plenty.

The Ladies' Aid of the Government Street Church are to hold an all-day session at the home of Mrs. William M. Forgrave of this avenue, Friday.

Mrs. Caro Hammond has returned to her home in South Portland after being the guest of Mrs. Harold Chick of Kittery Junction for the past two weeks.

The Boy Scouts are to hold a meeting Thursday evening at 7 o'clock in the Community House. New members are to be taken in.

The Ladies' Circle of the Second Christian church are to meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Lewis Gerlach of Government street.

A few words to the men. Last week I spoke to the housewives and drew attention to the fact that I sold Pabst's Butter-Krust bread for ten cents a loaf, thus saving them two cents on a loaf of bread. From the increased sales I think a great many ladies saw the point and profited by it. I think I may safely say now that I am the largest retailer of bread in Kittery.

About shoes and working trousers—shoes are going sky high in price, and the wise man will buy now. Some experts predict shoes will be as high as twelve dollars a pair, so this is the month to buy if you want to save money. Buy as many as you can afford. You will be glad when raise after raise comes. Do you want a good durable trouser for work that will not cost you much? I have them. Warm, strong trousers that will make Mr. Winter look sick. Look them over. When you need something in men's wear drop in and see Suggs. He has it, and the price is all right. And above all, remember you are welcome to go in Suggs's where it is warm and wait there for your car after your day's work is done. And don't forget that loaf of bread to take home. The Mrs. will be pleased.—J. P. Suggs.

The equipment will consist of free balloons, captive balloons for instruction purposes, and a small dirigible to act as a school ship. The equipment will also include winch wagons, apparatus for raising and lowering observation balloons, photographic outfits and field generating plants. As soon as the personnel can be trained sufficiently, balloon companies will be organized and attached to appropriate tactical units of the mobile army.

Central railroad has filed a similar bill.

Mayor Curley of Boston has received a letter from J. H. Hustis, the temporary receiver of the Boston & Maine railroad, offering the co-operation of the company in relieving the car shortage. The mayor had previously complained to the company that public service was being held up on account of the withdrawal of coal cars to their home roads.

Herbert Knowlton of the passenger department of the Boston & Maine railroad, and Arthur Jones, the Boston & Maine's official photographer, addressed a meeting of the Newport Monday night in a movement to give New Hampshire a wide advertising as a winter resort. A stereopticon was employed to show the winter sports of Switzerland and New England. They also presented the slides of the Dartmouth Outing club, illustrating the winter activities at Hanover.

Only a few seconds after a New York Central passenger train passed 18th street, New York last night, the tender of a fire engine crashed through an iron fence and fell to the tracks 25 feet below. The last car of the train had just cleared the spot where the tender fell. Railroad traffic was delayed nearly an hour while current in the third rail was turned off so rescuers could extricate from the wreckage the severely injured driver of the tender.

Eighteen hundred men have been authorized for the aviation section, and their enlistment is now under way. These men will be mechanics, chauffeurs, artisans and the soldiers necessary to keep up the active aero squadrons and maintain the school.

With the publication of the general order regarding the tentative organization of the aviation section, a campaign attempt will now be made to acquire suitable personnel for the Officers' Reserve Corps and the Enlisted Reserve Corps, with a view of forming reserve squadrons as rapidly as possible. The type of these men must be high both mentally and physically. They must be responsible men.

Prominent manufacturers are now establishing schools with equipment and instructors who come up to the government requirements for technicians of aeronautics.

Captain Charles De F. Chandler, who has been appointed head of the Aerostatic section is proceeding with the organization of personnel and equipment for training men for the service.

35,000 WOOLEN WORKERS GET 10 PER CENT RAISE

Announcement From Headquarters of American Woolen Co.

Boston, Nov. 22.—A ten per cent increase in all the mills of the American Woolen Company which employs 35,000 hands in New England and New York state was announced at the headquarters of the company here last night. At the same time, the Arlington Mills, whose big cotton plant at Lawrence employs 5,000 hands, announced "a higher scale of wages," the amount of which was not specified. It was believed that the new scale would be similar to that made public last night by the Cotton Manufacturers' association of New Bedford granting their 33,000 employees a ten per cent raise.

All the increases in the pay of textile operatives thus far announced are to be effective December 1. In most instances they mark the third advance within the calendar year and bring the wages to the highest point in the history of the industry.

Representatives of other mills had no statement to make regarding similar wage increases at their plants but in the past such advances have usually been virtually uniform in the northern New England mills. It was estimated in textile circles that the granting of a ten per cent raise in all New England mills would be an addition of more than $100,000 a year to the contents of the pay envelopes.

Franklin W. Hobbs, president of the Arlington Mills, in announcing the new scale to his company, said:

"The increase is in accordance with the policy of the corporation to adapt its scale of wages to improved conditions of business and to keep it at least on a parity with the best wage scale among its competitors in New England."

This announcement was posted in conspicuous places at the mills in Lawrence and was read by the employees as they left work on Tuesday night.

The American Woolen Company is the largest manufacturer of woollens in the world, the Wood mill in Lawrence alone employing 6,000 operatives.

FIRE CHEMICAL WILD IN CROWD AT BEVERLY

Driver Loses Control of Machine--One Dead, One Dying and Two Others Seriously Injured

David Lynch lost control of the Beverly auto chemical while hurrying to answer a false alarm in Home street, Beverly, at 2.30 Tuesday, and as a result one child is dead, her mother is dying, and four persons are in the Beverly Hospital seriously injured.

The machine swerved from Home street into Rantoul street, jumped the curb and raced into a crowd of pedestrians following the apparatus to the "five."

Four-year old Eva Bazanna, 252 Rantoul street, was killed outright. Her mother, Mrs. Ralph Bazanna, was badly crushed and is dying.

Mike McAdoo of Home street is internally injured; Mary Bazanna, 5 years old, a sister of the dead child, was crushed. Fireman Dexter Howard was hurled to the pavement and seriously hurt, and Joseph Mendale, 7 years old, 231 Rantoul street, was injured.

Fire Chief Robert Grant is conducting an investigation.

The alarm was rang from the "dancer" district.

RUSSIAN FORCES AGAIN OPEN WITH NEW OFFENSIVE

London, Nov. 21.—Another Russian offensive along the line from Constantza to Cernavoda is now expected to increase the intensity of the fighting in the Balkans. Military experts here today agreed this was the only step which could be relied upon to lessen the weight of Gen. Falkenhayn's tremendous pressure on the Wallachian frontier of Romania—a pressure which it is now admitted constitutes the gravest menace to Romania.

The Roumanian army is in the greatest danger of being out-flanked, if the German official statement, specifying near approach of the Teutons to Cernavoda, is accurate. The Roumanians are being forced back down the valley of the Jial. Meanwhile Von Falkenhayn, with a force estimated at half a million men, is sweeping around their rear, steadily descending the gap through which they must retreat and encircling that line of retreat so that its direction, apparently, must be due east.

WHO IS THE CHAMPION IN FAST DRESSING?

MRS. CARTER HARRISON. MRS. W. G. MCADOO.

The statement of Mrs. William G. McAdoo, daughter of President Wilson, that she had set a new record in fast dressing by putting on her clothes in twenty minutes aroused the ire of Mrs. Carter H. Harrison, wife of the former mayor of Chicago.

"Once upon a time," said Mrs. Harrison, "I bathed and dressed in thirteen minutes. I don't think I could do it again, but I did it once. Thirty minutes is a good average period for dressing in the morning—just to dress, twenty minutes is fast time."

STATE COLLEGE STUDENTS DRAIN ATHLETIC FIELD

GREAT AMOUNT OF WORK ACCOMPLISHED BY STUDENT BODY WORKING UNDER ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT

New Hampshire College, Durham, N. H., Nov. 21.—Every student in New Hampshire College, and there are more than 600 of them, united today to drain the athletic field and build new bleachers.

When night came there had been dig what appeared to be several miles of ditch, the had been laid, sand packed around the tile and the earth filled in and tramped down, and five sections of bleachers were completed. To celebrate this co-operative triumph there was a moving-picture show, a musical show and a dance in the evening.

All college exercises were suspended and squads of men took their previously appointed places at 5 o'clock under the direction of the seniors of the engineering department. The women went to the gymnasium and began their preparations for the noon-day meal. The entire floor of the gymnasium was occupied with the long tables and when the whistle sounded at 12 o'clock the workmen with all of the confidence of professionals of years' standing dropped their picks then and there and marched to the mess hall.

During the forenoon the workers had their natural hunger aggravated by the appearance of Miss Mary Worcester and a squad of 20 girls assistants who came bearing them a barbequed feast which was solely for the benefit of a moving picture man, who made his camera purr ecstatically as the bag refreshment squad arrived.

Prof. C. E. Hewitt, Prof. R. H. Porter and other members of the engineering department gave professional advice and from time to time consulted plans, and Professor Karl W. Woodward, in whose fertile brain this New Hampshire Day originated, supervised the erection of the five sections of bleachers. Professor Richard Whoriskey of the Modern Language Department was master of ceremonies and director general and the success of the day was in large part due to him.

The plan of having student labor on a large scale accomplish a great deal of necessary work at a minimum of cost comes to New Hampshire via California and Washington State, and it is the first time that this idea has been tried in any college in eastern states.

The athletic association provided $200 or half the estimated expense, and students, faculty and alumni were called upon to furnish the other $250. Students, faculty and alumni turned out to be rather enthusiastically about the plan and much more money than was necessary was received by the committee, not so much as would have been needed, however, had not various friendly individuals and corporations in the neighborhood assisted. Owners of teams all over this neighborhood furnished them free for today. The city of Dover contributed shovels as did Mr. L. E. Scruton a contractor of Portsmouth.

Professor F. W. Taylor announced six short courses in agriculture for this winter. The first is to be known as Farmers' week will be from January 2 to January 5 and is devoted to general agriculture. The next one from January 6th to January 12th will be devoted to hay and forage crops and that from January 15th to January 20 to orchards, grain and potatoes take their place from January 22 to January 25th and fruits and vegetables from January 26th to Feb. 3. Beginning Feb. 5th and continuing to March 3th is the 5-weeks' course in dairying. Tuition in all of these courses is free to residents in New Hampshire and non-residents may attend by paying a fee of $2 for each of the short one-week courses and $10 for the dairying course. A limited number of short-course students can be accommodated in the college dormitories.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE

By His Excellency, ROLLAND H. SPAULDING, Governor.

A Proclamation for Thanksgiving Day. Continuing the beautiful and reverent custom handed down to us by our forefathers, expressing a sincere belief in, and deep respect for, the true spirit and tender sentiment of the festival, and in accordance with the choice of a date by the President of the United States, I hereby proclaim Thursday, the thirtieth day of November, current as Thanksgiving Day.

I call upon all the people of New Hampshire to give devout thanks upon that day, in their homes and in their churches, for the blessings of peace and prosperity that are ours; so bright and so vivid in contrast with the darkness that enshrouds much of the world. And let us not only give thanks to God for his goodness and mercy thus manifested, but let us also take thought upon that day to give aid and succor to our less fortunate fellow men and thus prove ourselves worthy stewards of the divine bounty.

Given at the Council Chamber, in Concord this seventeenth day of November in the Year of Our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Sixteen and of the Independence of the United States the one hundred and forty-first.

ROLLAND H. SPAULDING, Governor.
By His Excellency, the Governor, with the advice of the Council,
EDWIN C. BYAN, Secretary of State.

IF BACKACHE OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

EAT LESS MEAT ALSO TAKE GLASS OF SALTS BEFORE EATING BREAKFAST

This acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

But less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Drugists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

The Car Shortage.

There has been much complaint of late about the scarcity of freight cars, this being advanced as one reason for the excessive price of coal. It is therefore reassuring to know that the railroads are looking into the matter and endeavoring to devise some means for relieving a situation which is troublesome alike to the roads and the public.

At a meeting of the American Railway Association in New York this matter was taken under consideration and one of the first disclosures was that many cars are held too long after reaching their destination. In other words, they are used for storage purposes by men who should have other places for their freight, with the result that large numbers of cars that should be moving over the rails are standing on sidings waiting to be unloaded. Where thousands of cars are thus tied up the effect cannot fail to be disadvantageous at a time when there is such a demand for them as there is now.

The remedy proposed at this meeting was simple and direct. It was to raise the demurrage rates to a point which would prompt the unloading of cars immediately after they reach their destination, making them available for further service as carriers instead of being used for storage purposes. And there is no reason why this should not be done if shippers will not co-operate without such prodding. Business men have no right to complain of slackness on the part of the railroads while crippling them by unnecessarily holding their cars. It is claimed that coal speculators who have insufficient or no storage for their supplies are holding coal in cars for higher prices. If this is so it is all wrong and the practice should be stopped at once in the interest of all concerned, excepting the speculators themselves. It is hard to believe that it is necessary that the price of coal should be as high as it is, and if this is one of the causes it should be removed forthwith by making such use of cars too costly to be profitable.

What the situation calls for is co-operation on the part of the railroads and shippers. Neither should seek an advantage over the other, but all should pull together in their own interest and the interest of the public. Where shippers show an unwillingness to do their share toward relieving the situation they may well be forced to action by a demurrage tax that will compel attention and stimulate to prompt action.

Commends Secretary Daniels.

The Concord Monitor prints in full the editorial from this paper on Secretary of the Navy Daniels in which we commended Mr. Daniels' administration. The Monitor made the following comment from Ex-Secretary Chandler under the caption, "Note by Mr. Chandler.—I concur in much of what is said in the above appreciation of Secretary Daniels, and I certainly approve of his determination not to be ordered to do things precisely as the naval contractors demand that he shall. The Secretary of the Navy, acting for the President, represents the civil power of a popular government, and it is not represented by the contractors, nor by the naval officers. They are the servants of the Nation and not its masters, and the people might decide to maintain peace even when they wanted war."

Advice to do Christmas shopping early is already being heard, and with it comes a reminder that there is room for a lot of Christmas giving in the Old World as well as at home. President Wilson introduces the same thought in his Thanksgiving proclamation. The Salvation Army is planning its Thanksgiving dinner for the poor and is ready for all the assistance that people see fit to lend. Under the circumstances those who have struggled through this trying year and are in a position to help will find the avenues for their beneficence broad and long.

At least one eastern city finds that cold weather is not a preventive of infantile paralysis, a considerable number of new cases having developed of late. Yet the cold seems to be as much of a preventive as anything else that has been discovered. It is apparent that there are some facts in connection with this dread disease that have not yet been brought to the surface.

It is proposed to have warning signs placed 300 feet from grade crossings in order that automobiles may be apprehended of danger in time. But many of them when within 300 feet of a track are going at a rate which prevents them from seeing a sign or anything else but the road ahead, and some of the accidents indicate that there are times when they don't see that.

The Indians are looking up. A number of them have lately been arrested on the Pacific coast for overspeeding their automobiles, and now they are working their way into Congress, the next of which will have three in its membership. In politics the Cherokees are taking the lead.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

What Does "Enforce" Mean?
(From the Albany Journal)
The League to Enforce Peace is going to have a lot of trouble with that "enforce."

Looking Ahead Four Years
(From the Philadelphia Telegraph, Rep.)

No one can presume to say what will be the dominant issues of the campaign four years hence, though with the war ended the questions arising will concern mainly, if not solely, domestic affairs and the protection of American interests. We shall be compelled to meet, not the armed hostility of any European nation, but the organized trade aggression of practically all of them. This nobody believes can be done under the Underwood tariff act.

If the Tariff Commission, which has been authorized by Congress, but not yet appointed, can meet the menace in a non-partisan spirit and recommend protective measures which Congress can approve, and which will be effective, it will invite and receive the support of all fair-minded citizens who are concerned for the country's material welfare. And what is done in that direction in good faith will go far to shape the issues upon which the next presidential election will be contested.

The Indian Tide Has Turned (From the Cincinnati Times-Star)
Dr. Lawrence W. White, superintendent of the Lac du Flambeau Indian School, who has recently completed a personal investigation among American Indians, declares in The Red Man that the Indian, except in racial ideals and characteristics, no longer belongs to a "vanishing race." Dr. White declares that as a result of better sanitary conditions, better medical treatment and better living, the birth rate among Indians now exceeds the death rate.

In the 1916 vital statistics maintained by various states, 200,224 Indians were enumerated. Of these about 100,000 were full-blooded. The total births were 5922 and the deaths 4570, an excess of births over deaths of 1622. These statistics do not include the Five Civilized Tribes or certain unattached Indians of California, among whom health conditions are favorable. Dr. White here puts an end to the melancholy chant about the passing of a race. The doctor indeed does more, for he declares that the Government's policy of educating the Indian, giving him permanent habitations, and putting him to work "on his own" in agriculture, has brought about a rejuvenation that ultimately will redeem a race which has suffered much at the hands of the white invader. What orimes the Indian committed in early days were due to his ignorance of what we call civilization. But civilization is at last paying its debt—by sharing with the Indian some of its own knowledge of how to live and how to work.

War Demands Moral Purgings
(From the Portland Oregonian)

War has impressed upon the British nation the necessity of moral as well as physical and intellectual preparedness. The nation recognizes that it cannot be fully efficient to fight without perfect health, and that is impossible in a people morally unclean. This conviction has borne fruit in severe restrictions of the liquor traffic, such as a nation addicted to stimulate would never tolerate in times of peace, and in voluntary renunciation of liquor by many leading men and women, led by King George. But the health of thousands is being destroyed by sexual vices which have become rampant in London and other cities, and the bishop of London has been moved to a more vigorous campaign than ever against this evil.

Revelations in the recent recruiting campaign in this country cause the belief that the next serious war in which the United States becomes involved will impress upon us with a force which cannot be gainsaid the need of a similar moral cleansing. The percentage of men offering themselves for military service who were physically unfit because of vice and disease was so high as to arouse alarm. Luxury, high living, vice, self-indulgence and lack of moral training, and self-restraint have not only made the youth of the United States soft, but have poisoned their blood. Such men could not stand up under the strain of war. By contrast, men came home from the Mexican frontier and from the voluntary training camps models of physical health and vigor as much because they had been under moral restraint as because they had undergone severe physical training under the best sanitary and dietary conditions.

A Warning From Boston
(From the New York Herald)

New York might as well accept the inevitable and be good. Boston, which has always defined itself as a state of mind, has quickly accepted Rev. "Billy" Sunday's positive assertion that it is a place and that the place is not far from the Hub. This is important because Mr. Sunday is coming here

CURRENT OPINION

The Junior marine scouts will train boys between the ages of twelve and eighteen in the duties of United States marines. They will be taught practical seamanship, so that if later in life they desire to enter the merchant service they will have a good foundation in nautical learning.

We take as our special plea to others that the training the boys will receive on land and water will be of greater benefit than either land or sea training taken separately. It's a two in one service—both naval and military—and we look to see the idea spread over the entire country within a very short time.

Our motto is "Preparedness" not only of a character that will be valuable in time of war, but that will be equally valuable in time of peace.

When we have our different quarters established we will teach the boys how to become better citizens by instructing them in duties that will be well worth while at all times.—By I. W. Irving, Head of Junior Marine Scouts.

In April, and there is a suspicion that he may surprise us by unearthing a Gehenna in this good city, where nobody ever suspected such a thing, or place, or state to exist.

If Boston, where a Lowell speaks only to a Cabot and a Cabot only to God, succumbs so readily to Mr. Sunday's appeals couched in a language which its effect citizens are supposed not to understand, what chance has New York, the fount of American slang, to escape from "bitting the trail?" New York might preferably begin at once to practice bowling to the inevitable.

Our Railroad Problem
(From the Indianapolis News)

The car shortage indicates that another freight embargo is impending. This should enable the public to realize that the railroads have reached a critical period. Either they must expand or they will cease to give profitable and satisfactory service. In commenting on the annual report of the Ann Arbor, Newman Erb, its president, says: "Greater efficiency by the railroads here and there is, of course, still possible, but the limit of locomotive axle load and development of train loading has almost been reached and the intolerability of the present conditions will be strikingly brought to the attention of the public when the existing stimulation of business has been withdrawn, and we are again experiencing normal times."

The warning is addressed both to the railways and the people. The ordinary growth of business has taxed the facilities of the carriers which, on account of enforced retrenchment, have been unable to make improvements. Double tracks, enlarged terminals, more rolling stock and lower grades are necessary. Railroads in all parts of the country are utilizing present profits for some of the changes. But these sums, large as they are, seem insignificant in comparison with the requirements. The present trouble with the New Haven now is not mismanagement, but inability to handle its business. Judge Lovett of the Union Pacific announces plans to spend millions of dollars. The improvements include new equipment, much double-tracking and the driving of a tunnel through Sherman hill.

The Union Pacific-Central Pacific was the first transcontinental railway. As built by General Dodge, it followed the trail marked by bison, then by Indians, the fur traders, the Mormons and the overland gold and home-seekers to the Pacific coast. The road crossed the transcontinental divide at Sherman hill, whose elevation is 8236 feet. In General Dodge's day Sherman hill offered the most advantageous pass through the Rockies. To overcome the difficulties which the pioneers found least formidable, the Union Pacific, almost half a century after its completion, is to spend a vast sum.

There is scarcely a railroad in the United States that could not improve its right of way by lessening grades, increasing the number of tracks of building terminals. It is said that the carriers could probably spend $1,000,000 a year for some time. Eventually, such an expenditure will become unavoidable. Are the railroads to attack this problem without aid, or is their problem also to be in part the public's? The railways cannot expand safely, unless the Government and people assist, the former by simplifying regulation and the latter by providing funds for investments properly safeguarded.

Reasonable Jealousy
(From the Omaha Bee, Rep.)

Remember that Nebraska, with ten electoral votes, as against Nebraska's eight, cast less than half Nebraska's vote at the polls. It is this disfranchisement of voters in the south that keeps the Democrats in the saddle.

Ben Lindsay Blamed Again
(From the Springfield Republican)

Some more or less reputable Colorado folks have another grievance against Judge Ben Lindsay of the Denver Juvenile Court. He has been re-elected by a margin of ten thousand votes, and in the process run ahead of his county ticket.

Who Then, Is Blamable?
(From the Baltimore American)

President Wilson put part of the blame for high prices on the middlemen, and the middlemen put it on the farmers. This is a reactionary way of utilizing the general movement back to the farm. Besides, the general tendency of the age is to pass on the blame.

Boys Should Be Taught Rudiments of Naval and Land Service.

LACK OF COAL TO CUT TRAINS

New Haven Must Reduce Passenger Service If Coal Shortage Continues.

Conservation of the coal supply may force the New Haven railroad to discontinue some passenger trains on the branch lines, according to a statement written to the Public Service Commission by President Howard Elliott of the road.

Officials of the New Haven declared last night that the coal situation is alarming and that even now they are having great difficulty in getting coal enough to keep passenger and freight service up to the schedule.

The Observer

I am informed by Loyd Goodrich ofillery, for many years, employed on the Portsmouth navy yard that Thursday, Nov. 23, is the 34th anniversary of the hauling up of the frigate Plymouth in No. 6 shiphouse to be demolished. In those days the use of electricity was not so much in vogue as now and the work of hauling the big ship out of the water was done by the aid of large winches and several hundred workmen who pulled on the respective ropes. In order to accelerate the efforts of the men thus engaged, the drummer and after from the marine barracks were present and rendered inspiring music for the workers. The late William D. Noyes, for many years master shipwright at the yard, was in charge.

While the present month of November has been remarkable free from fires, the month of November during the past fifty years has witnessed some of the most disastrous fires in the city, according to the diary kept by the veteran fireman George N. Jones. Some of the most notable of these fires were as follows: Congress block, Nov. 30, 1865; old Bowling alley on Hanover street, Nov. 25, 1868; Waldron block on Congress street, Nov. 6, 1870; Catholic church, Nov. 27, 1881; Dennis Lynch's store, Market street, Nov. 28, 1882; Jones Brewing Company's mill house, Nov. 17, 1904; Waldron block and Langdon house, Nov. 23, 1914.

The near approach of Thanksgiving is causing many a thrifty housewife to wonder whether she will be able to provide the usual turkey dinner or some substitute for the main dish. A well known marketman speaking of the situation today said: "There is altogether too much anxiety about the Thanksgiving turkey. The supply is not going to be as big as usual, but there is going to be no such scarcity as some people predict. Besides that, the prices will not be much higher than in other years."

The degree staffs in the various lodges in our city are now brushing up in anticipation of the work that is to be conferred during the winter months. It is doubtful if there is a city of its size in the United States that has more fraternal organizations than Portsmouth. What is still more remarkable all of these organizations with a very few exceptions are in a flourishing and prosperous condition and each year do a vast amount of good to their members by becoming incapacitated from work by sickness or accident, that the outside world never hears about. Men banded together in these brotherhoods can not help accomplishing good results in any community.

The North Carolina is taking on a supply of coal today.

Getting Crew Together.
Several men from the crews of other ships at the yard have been transferred to the survey ship Leonidas for survey duty in Southern waters. The ship will sail shortly.

HIS BIRTHDAY
George H. Perkins a chief at the Hodgdon cafe reached his 66th birthday today and no man feels better than George at this stage of life. He appears and feels as young as a man 20 years his junior. As an athlete he has seldom appeared in print but can do a five mile walk, come through with a six round bout with the gloves off and a jig with the best of them. He takes great interest in all events in the sporting and political world and general topics that attract the attention of the American public. No man ever received more hearty congratulations than the genial George did today and the greetings came from men in all walks of life.

ONE GLEAM OF HOPE FOR AGREEMENT

American and Mexican Delegates Still at Odds on Border Patrol Plan.

(Special to The Herald)

Washington, Nov. 22.—One gleam of hope existed in official circles here today that the Mexican conference at Atlantic City would reach a satisfactory border patrol plan and that was owing to the report that General Carranza would withdraw Luis Calera, chief of the delegates who refuses to concur on the proposal with the other five members of the commission. Calera has long been credited in Latin-American diplomatic circles as bitterly anti-American.

BIGGEST GUN IN WORLD FOR NAVY

United States Plans Most Powerful Arm for New Battleships.

Washington, Nov. 22.—Battleships authorized this year will carry the most powerful guns of which the navy has any authentic information. Rear Admiral Strauss, chief of ordnance, told the house naval committee today he expected to complete and prove a 16-inch 50-calibre gun early next year.

"We have a very good 16-inch, 45-calibre gun," he said, "but the 50-calibre weapon will be the largest gun in the world of which we have any authentic information. We wish to build and prove the new gun however, before adopting it for new ships. Four battleships, bids for which soon will be awarded by the navy department, each will carry eight 16-inch 45-calibre guns. The three ships congress is expected to authorize this winter will each carry twelve 16-inch 50-calibre guns if the department's hopes are carried out. Admiral Strauss said the 50-calibre gun would weigh 123 tons as against 100 tons for the 45-calibre weapon and will have greater penetrating force and range.

THEY ALL WANT REAPPOINTMENT

Many Old Timers Elected to the Legislature of 1917.

The clerks and practically all of the other officers and attaches of both the senate and house of 1916 are candidates for re-election and re-appointment in 1917 and most of them have no announced opposition so far. In fact the machinery of the next New Hampshire legislature ought to get into working order with very little difficulty, for no less than 13 chairmen of committees including the most important ones of the session of 1916, have been re-elected to the house of 1917. In the list are Conch of Concord, Judiciary; French of Montpelier, appropriations; Brennan of Cornish, agricultural college; Hoyt of Hanover, county officers; Emerson of Hanover, public health; Kent of Exeter, railroads; Lath of Wolfeboro, forestry; Wright of Sanborn, incorporation; Pender of Portsmouth, insurance; Callahan of Keene, labor; Philbrick of Springfield, millage; Hodson of Oostee, state hospital; Seaverns of Laconia, school for feeble minded; Wood of Portsmouth, engineering bills.

Ranking Democrats on many committees also have been continued from the last session of the legislature to the next one. This list includes Ahern of Concord, appropriations; Brennan of Peterboro and Tilton of Tilton, Judiciary; Curtis of Concord, agricultural college; Gannon of Concord, labor; Gilmore of Epping, public health; Dodge of Laconia, public improvements; Hoyt of Concord, soldiers' homes; Lee of Concord, ways and means.

Ranking Republican members on committees of which the chairmen were not re-elected will be Woodman of Milford on agriculture; Kenhall of Nashua on banks; Morrison of Oxford on education; Keyser of Dover on fisheries and game; Sanborn of Laconia on industrial school; Duff of Franklin on manufactures; Rice of Ringdoe on towns.

TRIO REPEATED
THEIR SUCCESSRICE-GISH ORGANIZATION GAVE EXCELLENT CONCERT PRO-GRAM AT THE MIDDLE STREET BAPTIST CHURCH

The Middle Street Baptist Church was well filled last evening by an appreciative audience when the Rice-Gish concert trio presented an enjoyable program. The program was largely vocal and instrumental. The Rice-Gish and vocal solos by Leon Rice, the celebrated dramatic tenor, Jennie Caesar Rice accompanied both artists at the piano.

Several of the numbers rendered by Mr. Rice were written for him and dedicated to him by their composers and included works by Cox, Foster, and Kurstner. Mr. Rice was in excellent voice and each of his numbers were so heartily applauded that he was compelled to sing several encores.

The work of Miss Gish was equally fine and she was generous with her encores. The accompaniments, as played by Mrs. Rice, added greatly to the work of the soloists.

The trio has visited Portsmouth on previous occasions and, as usual, they scored a distinct success last evening. The program was well selected and contained a wide range of the several classes of music.

The program:—

Violin..... Romanza..... Svensson

Tenor..... Dedication..... Franz

A Song of Flowers..... Late

ANNIVERSARY
CELEBRATION
COMES TO ENDDr. Elmer A. Leslie and Dr. J.
T. B. Smith Make Stirring
Addresses at Kittery Church.

The closing event of the fiftieth anniversary celebration took place at the Government Street Methodist church on Tuesday evening. Over two hundred were present to enjoy the addresses which were delivered by Dr. Elmer A. Leslie of Cambridge and Dr. J. T. B. Smith of Chicago. Billy Sunday song books were used for the first time in the church. The church has purchased a large number to be used in the popular Sunday evening services which are held at 6 o'clock every Sunday. The pastor has announced that his subject at that hour next Sunday will be "The Human Deutchland."

Dr. Leslie delivered an address on "The Stewardship of Personality." He declared, "The principle of stewardship is well illustrated in Christ's parable of the ten talents. The servants were given talents not to 'own' but to 'use' for their Master. So all that we have our possessions, our personalities belong to God. They are given to us to use for him." He first spoke of the physical aspect of personality and showed how a well cared for body can contribute to the deeper and adding elements of personality. "The adding elements of personality are four and these are given to us as a trust to be used not for self-enrichment but for God and the blessing of our fellow men. The intellectual aspect, the capacity of the mind to think, to originate and to plan; the aesthetic aspect, the appreciation of the beautiful, the harmonious and of melody; the emotional aspect, the capacity for high and lofty feeling; the volitional aspect, or the will, the dynamic force of human life. These adding aspects of our personalities are to be used in the service of Christ. There they find their noblest expression and their greatest power."

Dr. J. T. B. Smith of Chicago said in part: "The greatest eulogy of Billy Sunday's work and life was given last week by 'Ma' Sunday when in answer to the call of the ministers for a speech she went forward to the edge of the platform and said: 'I want to tell you preachers that Billy Sunday lives what he preaches.' Men who criticize Billy Sunday for receiving large sums of money do not realize the true value of things. The redemption of lost and ruined lives is beyond money computation. To save the gambler, the drunkard, the unbeliever is worth all the money in the banks of Boston. "Every Christian believes in the call of God to certain peoples as ministers. When a man is called to the holy office of a preacher he must give up every earthly ambition and consecrate himself unreservedly and absolutely to the service of the Most High God. There is a double call to the ministry which is of God and must be attested to by the church. No man can give himself to the ministry unless the church accepts him to that office. In the Methodist Episcopal church he is promised a comfortable support and the word salary, is not in the Methodist discipline. The average compensation of a Methodist Episcopal minister is $774. The average salary in all the Protestant churches is less than $600. In Maine there are a large number of ministers working for less salary than is paid the policemen and plumbers of Boston and Chicago. No church wants a minister whose primary thought is money. He must not save money. He must save men from sin. If he makes money and does not make good men or a good community, the church does not want him nor does the community. A preacher is a man of one work. He must not be as other men and work for a living. He lives for his work. He cannot live or be as other men. President Wilson says, "The minute the minister endeavors to be as other men or becomes as other men, he has lost the sense of his holy calling." How can men be efficient in the pulpit on such meagre salaries, men who have a college education and need to keep abreast of the modern culture by purchasing books and reading the latest literature? It would be a crime to save money on such salaries. With these small salaries it is surprising that some well-meaning people expect the preacher to save money for old age. They give him a very small pittance and then criticize him for not saving money when the very small salary itself makes it absolutely impossible. Who wants a man in the pulpit who trades horses, deals in stocks or is a man of two trades?

DR. J. M. FROST,

"In 1908 the Methodist Episcopal church inaugurated a movement to give a retiring competency to its retired ministers and an adequate care of its widows and dependent orphans. At that time about six hundred thousand dollars was being paid throughout Methodism for pensions for preachers. Dr. Hingley, general secretary, now reports that last year the church paid more to pension its clergymen than corporation. The Pennsylvania railroad paid for its employees one million and one hundred and seventeen thousand dollars, while the Methodist Episcopal church paid one million two hundred and fifty thousand dollars. Social justice and Christian ethics demand that the laborer is worthy of his hire which includes an old age pension. The government, the state and most of the large corporations are recognizing the justice of pensions and practically all the Protestant churches are seeking pensions for all the men who have made the pension idea prevalent in the U. S. Maine conference is seeking two hundred thousand dollars to take care of its retired ministers and has in its treasury eighty thousand dollars. Each church is expected to contribute to the fund an equal amount to the pastor's salary in five installments. The Presbyterian, Congregational, Christian, Episcopal, Lutheran, Baptist and other churches are engaged in seeking pensions for preachers. The total amount being sought by these preachers is sixty-five million dollars. Practically twenty-five million of this has been secured, and the Methodist church has practically seven million, five hundred thousand of the needed fifteen million."

A word here should be spoken in regard to the decorations in the church auditorium and vestry. The church was certainly decorated beyond criticism and met with the approval of every one. Part of the decorations were made up of palms, ferns, evergreen and flowers. The committee that had this in charge consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pinkham of Love's Lane for the auditorium, and Mrs. Ethel Paul for the vestry.

The fiftieth anniversary exercises which have been held during the past few days will be long remembered by the hundreds that attended any or all the services.

WOULD PLACE EMBARGO ON FOOD STUFFS

(Special to The Herald)

Washington, Nov. 22.—Congress in December will endeavor to place an embargo on the foodstuffs being consigned to Europe. This was made certain today. Representative Fitzgerald of New York, chairman of the house committee on improvements, said he would introduce an embargo measure to control the shipment of foodstuffs when Congress convened. He said an embargo would be an effective strike-back at Great Britain's uncalled for blacklist of American firms and also reduce the cost of living.

MISSING GIRL
RETURNS TO HOME IN MARLBORO

Marlboro, Mass., Nov. 22.—Ten-year-old Agatha Kelly, who disappeared after school yesterday and for whom the police and citizens instituted an all-night search, calmly walked into the home of her parents on Boston street this morning. She was apparently none the worse for the experience but refused to give the least information as to her absence. In despair of getting her story, her baffled parents put Agatha to bed, and she calmly fell asleep and her mystery story rests.

HONOR COMES TO
PORTSMOUTH MAN
IN ARGENTINEGeorge O. Wiggin Heads Government Weather Bureau in Far-Away Country.

Some few days ago a letter from Buenos Aires, Argentine, was received by relatives of the writer in this vicinity containing the welcome news that Mr. George O. Wiggin had received on Aug. 13 the appointment of chief of the meteorological service of the Argentine Republic. So he officially becomes, as he had for four or five years past been, the defacto, "Old Prob" of the great and prosperous country that has been his home for many years.

Mr. Wiggin went from this city to South America about 25 years ago and on the first day of this November completed twenty-two years continuous service under the Argentine government.

Mr. Wiggin's actual official appointment as chief is very popular and the newspapers of the country have been especially complimentary and kind in speaking of it.

The new weather chief is proud of his service and contemplates extending it until it becomes a complete continental system based upon telegraphic reports from Cape Horn to Panama, along both the eastern and western coasts, and will eventually, if his plans be realized, reach the head waters of the great Amazon valley, far in the interior of Brazil.

Mr. Wiggin is son of the late Mrs. Sarah A. C. Wiggin, a nephew of the late Sheriff Coffin, a brother of Mrs. Fernald, wife of E. S. Fernald of North Kittery, and an uncle of Portsmouth's present public librarian. He is well remembered by many of our residents who knew him in early youth and who will gladly congratulate him upon his appointment to his high and responsible position.

Practical Economy

Baking powders made from alum or phosphate may be bought for a trifle less than Royal Baking Powder, which is made from cream of tartar, derived from grapes.

Alum powders are not only cheap, but they differ greatly in leavening power.

If a cheap baking powder is used for a fine cake and the cake turns out a failure there is a waste of costly materials worth more than a whole can of the cheap baking powder.

Royal Baking Powder produces the finest food, and its use therefore, results in an actual saving.

TARGET PRACTICE CUT TO FIRST-LINE SHIPS

Shortage of Men in Navy Causes Orders from Department Which Limits Practice During the Winter

Washington, Nov. 21.—Target practice in the navy will have to be limited for the winter to the first line ships.

Rear Admiral Strauss, chief of ordnance, told the House Naval Committee today, because of the shortage of men. Steps already are being taken to increase the personnel under the law.

The appropriation sub-committee began work yesterday on the 1918 estimates, the heaviest in American history, to be presented to Congress this winter. The Navy Department's 1918 figures contemplate construction of half of the ships yet to be built in the great three-year programme, and show total appropriations of $378,151,701, or more than $66,000,000 in excess of the record total appropriated last summer.

Contracts for the armor plate, which will go on the Colorado, Maryland, Washington and West Virginia, were awarded yesterday to the Bethlehem and Carnegie Steel Companies, each receiving half of the work. A statement analyzing the contracts says that despite the unprecedented European demand for plate, the prices offered were approximately the same as those paid three years ago when the Pennsylvania was being constructed.

Rear Admiral Strauss, chief of ordnance, appeared before the sub-committee. Explaining an increase of $1,500,000 in his estimates for fleet ammunition he said the cost of projectiles and other ordnance material had increased that much since Congress provided $18,000,000 for the purpose last year. Prices of smaller shells, he said, were going down, but that of the larger shells of the fourteen-inch size used by the Navy showed a 20 per cent increase over last year's quotations.

Admiral Strauss said the naval gun factory was now producing torpedoes, the first deliveries, however, exceeding in cost the prices quoted by private manufacturers. It is expected that the factory will get its costs considerably below the commercial rate with its next delivery. At present the cost of manufacture exceeds quotations by from $500 to $1500 per torpedo depending on the system of calculations employed. At the Newport station where the bulk of the navy's torpedoes are produced, the admiral said, the cost of

WITH THE SPORTS

New York, Nov. 21.—The western footballers are what you might call the "big boys" of the sport. They are the ones who are making the most of the season. They are the ones who are making the most of the season. They are the ones who are making the most of the season.

For to these many years, these two colleges have been the greatest source of outsiders. When either won a game from their big rivals, it was considered something for the home rosters to get all excited about. And now that this pair remains long in the unbeaten classes, why the merry villagers have gone quite frantic with joy.

When they meet on November 25, with the little hanging in the balance it will draw the biggest crowd that ever saw either of the two colleges in battle; a throng that will jam every inch of space in the park and which will howl itself hoarse with its plaudits.

Those who have analyzed the work of both colleges so far this year regard the two as evenly matched. Northwestern has a line that stacks up as one of the best in the west, and most powerful in the east; a defense which has been penetrated but once so far this year. But it hasn't played Ohio State; it hasn't had a test so far with the great buckeye, and there you are.

In Marley, the Ohio State eleven has a backfield man who ranks as one of the most versatile in the west. He runs ends with the fleetness of a jackrabbit; hits the line with crushing force; is a fine runner in a broken field and can punt with the best of them. Sorenson, the Ohio fullback is just reaching his crest. A wonderful player naturally, he rounded to slowly this year. But he came to in that Indiana combat and his powerful plugging undoubtedly will crack that Purple line for some big gains. Norton, the other fullback, is only a Note behind Harley in all around halfbacking skill. He is a zig-zag runner with fine football sense; and a man who can wiggle an extra yard or two after he is thrown.

Bolen, is Ohio's star end. He has won many plaudits by his work this season. Peabody, the other wing guard, also is an exceptional player. Karch and Courtney, tackles are listed among the truly great this year, and both on showings to date, seem better than the brace of Northwestern line-men.

The star of the Northwestern eleven is Driscoll, captain and halfback. In condition he is a brilliant performer. He is fast, tricky and elusive. He hits the line like a piston and has few superiors in the west as a drop-kicker or punter. But Driscoll was injured some time ago and the hurt was of such nature that it isn't absolutely sure that he will be able to play with his full might against the State team.

Kahler is the fullback and a great player is he. Ellingwood is a good man and has been one of the factors in Northwestern's ball advancing success. And while Driscoll's absence has done most of the ball carrying, he is good too, as a defensive halfback.

Smith, at center is the tower of strength in the Northwestern line. He displaces 270 pounds and every ounce of it is power. He has opened huge holes almost every time that the command was given.

Zanger and Ulrich are the guards. They are husky and fast for such big men and have outplayed all of their foes so far this year.

Yes, it ought to be quite a scrap when these two eleven meet for the honor and glory of the Western Conference championship.

Here is the standing of the Western Conference eleven as regards the games played by each against other conference teams:

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

IT'S GRANDMOTHER'S RECIPE TO BRING BACK COLOR AND LUSTRE TO HAIR

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for 50 cents a large bottle, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it dyes so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

URGES EVERYONE TO QUICKLY GET ON WATER WAGON

Drink glass of it before breakfast to wash out poisons.

To see the tinge of healthy bloom in your face, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, to wake up without a headache, backache, coated tongue or a nasty breath, in fact to feel your best, day in and day out, just try inside-bathing every morning for one week.

Before breakfast each day, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it as a harmless means of washing from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the blood and internal organs. Those who are subject to constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, rheumatic twinges, also those whose skin is sallow and complexion pallid, are assured that one week of inside-bathing will have them both looking and feeling better in every way.

U. S. ENVOYS TO ACT; TIRED OF WRANGLING

SUBMITS TO MEXICAN CONFERENCE FINAL PLAN FOR CARRANZA'S APPROVAL

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 21.—A final plan of border patrol and withdrawal of the American punitive force now in Mexico, backed by President Wilson's approval, was to be presented to the Mexican members of the American-Mexican commission today, with the statement that the administration at Washington expects it to be accepted without further wrangling. The plans are contingent upon several concessions by Gen. Carranza, which have not yet been made public.

It is understood President Wilson expects to put into operation plans of his own regarding border operations in Mexico unless the suggestions of the American commission are adopted.

The American commissioners today gave to the Mexican commissioners what is understood to be the last opportunity for an amicable settlement of the questions that have arisen because of Carranza's failure to provide adequate protection for life and property along the international border.

In joint session, Secretary of the Interior Lane, as chairman of the American commission, informed Mr. Carranza's representatives that the American punitive expedition would be withdrawn within a reasonable time and under conditions that would not impair the dignity of the American Government or leave unprotected the territory just south of the border now patrolled by the Americans. Incident to such withdrawal he outlined the manner in which the American Government was prepared to guard the long line of frontier and to run down and punish any marauding band that attempted a crossing into the United States. He made it clear to the Mexicans that this Government would not tolerate any restrictions on the pursuit of bandits by American troops.

How Luis Cabrera, chairman of the Mexican commission, and his colleagues received what is regarded as the last word of the American commissioners was not expected to be known until after the session came to an end this afternoon. When Mr. Lane went into the conference room this morning he carried in with him the assurance of the President that he had unqualified backing of his plan. The Mexicans were aware of the President's attitude and it was regarded as probable that they would recede from the position they had taken.

BUREAU OF CIVIC INFORMATION AND RESEARCH

Of the Conference for a Better New England

At the first conference for a better New England, the following Board of Directors was confirmed and authorized to proceed in the work of the Bureau of Civic Information and Research.

The mayors of Manchester, Lowell, Providence, New Haven, Portland and Rutland; Prof. O. C. Hornell Bowdoin; Prof. L. D. H. Weld, Yale; Mrs. T. H. Bowker, Mrs. W. H. Dwight, Mrs. E. de Garmo, Mrs. Margaret J. Stannard, Miss Marian C. Nichols. The director of the conference ex-officio.

It is proposed that the work of this bureau be divided into three departments to conform to the organization of the municipal and civic interests throughout the U. S.

1. Information Department under the direction of the mayors of the six cities to co-operate with the New York State Bureau of Municipal Information.

2. Municipal research department, under the direction of the members of the board, to co-operate with the 36 municipal leagues and other civic organizations.

3. Home Department, under the direction of the home committee and advisory board, Mrs. Margaret J. Stannard, chairman, to co-operate with boards of health, chambers of commerce, etc.

It is proposed that the Information Department be the official organization of New England cities, with a membership composed exclusively of all officials of the cities. The policy of this department to be determined by the mayors represented on the board of directors, elected each year at the conference by the representatives of the cities this department sends.

That the Municipal Research Department this first year make a survey of what municipal and civic organizations in New England are now doing and how they do it; and through co-operative agencies, chart of organization of our cities to show schedules of what is being done, who is doing it, the organization provided and how it conducts its work as a basic preliminary to the constructive program.

That the Home Department be considering the development of its work make a careful study of the Home Teacher act and Civic Center law of California as a basis for municipal action in New England.

The Bureau of Civic Information and Research is a part of the Conference for a Better New England under the direct control of the board of fifteen directors, Secretary of the Municipal Research and Home Department respectively; that it appoint a finance committee to make a budget and be responsible for the raising of the fund necessary for the salaries of the officers of the bureau, until such time as a permissive law giving the cities in each state authority to make an appropriation based upon population for the support of the bureau and to include the appropriation in the annual budget and appropriate the money from funds collected by tax, be passed, if such laws in the judgment of the board seem advisable.

That immediately after this meeting the director of the bureau shall with the mayor representing each state, visit all the cities in the state, the governor, state librarian and state university, to lay before them the plans and purposes of the bureau as determined at this meeting and obtain their co-operation and support.

Mr. William Capes, director of the New York State Bureau of Municipal Information, and Messrs. Sands and Holton of the staff of the New York City Bureau of Municipal Research, have kindly consented to meet with the board at Springfield, Thursday, Nov. 23, to talk over the work of the bureau with the members.

There are 91 cities in New England and one thousand four hundred and fourteen towns.

ON THE BREVITY OF SKIRTS

Some years ago the "rainy daisies" in their brief skirts were somewhat rare;

But the short skirt today amazes

No one, for it is everywhere

In common use and worn by misses

And matrons as the style correct.

And in these changing times, why, this is

No more than men folk should expect

Yet, one thing in man's mind still rankles

Which no one ventures to explain—

Why women who have shapely ankles

Wear longer skirts than they who fair

Do "spindle shanks" to the rude peering

Of cringing man display

So freely. Are such modes in keeping

With woman's dignified way?

TRIED TO STOP REVOLVING CAGE IN DOVER JAIL

Dover, Nov. 22.—Stephen Swaine, who is being held at the Stratford county jail where he is under bonds for his appearance before the grand jury of the February term of the Stratford county superior court for stealing a number of chairs from the city building in Rochester, is at the Wentworth hospital suffering from several fractures of the bones of one of his feet.

Swaine put his foot out of his cell it is thought, to stop the revolving cage at the jail. He had no sooner attempted this when he began to scream with pain. The revolving cage was reversed and it was discovered that Swaine had a badly crushed foot. It was learned from some other prisoners that Swaine had told them that some day he was going to try and stop the cage.

GIRLS! MOISTEN A CLOTH AND DRAW IT THROUGH HAIR

It becomes beautifully soft, wavy, abundant and glossy at once.

Save your hair! All dandruff goes and hair stops coming out.

Surely try a "Danderine Hair Cleanser" if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few minutes you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance.

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; invigorates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

Save your hair! Keep it looking charming and beautiful. You will say this was the best 25 cents you ever spent.

MAYOR SAYS HE WILL NOT STOP STAGE WEDDING

Ministers Protest Against the Ceremony in Biddeford Theatre.

The Ministers' Association of Biddeford has protested against the carrying out of the proposed stage marriage of Henry A. Ward, a soldier at Fort Williams, Portland, and Miss Alpha M. Jenkins, a vaudeville artist in the Strand Musical company which is advertised to take place at one of the theatres of that city on Friday night.

The following letter was sent to Mayor Girard signed by several of the clergy:

"Our attention has been called through the newspapers to the fact that a wedding ceremony is to be performed on the stage of the Central theatre, Friday evening, Nov. 24, at the close of the evening performance.

"As ministers of the Gospel, charged with the safeguarding of the morals of the community and believing that the wedding ceremony performed under such circumstances is a degradation of the ordinance and inimical to the highest interests of our community life, we respectfully protest against the proposed stage wedding and petition your honor to forbid it."

The mayor will cause no action against the ceremony believing that he has no right to interfere. He hopes the parties interested will meet, and make it satisfactory to both sides.

BIG RAILROAD STRIKE JAN. 1 NOW IN DOUBT

BROTHERHOOD HEAD DENIES DECISION MADE—MAY AWAIT CONSTITUTIONALITY TEST

Washington, Nov. 21.—A general railroad strike Jan. 1 may not follow as the result of the present situation, growing out of the Adamson law dispute.

This interpretation was today placed on remarks of Chief Stone of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers that the question of such a strike "will be answered later." The element of doubt regarding his remarks arises from the fact that last week in New York brotherhood chiefs flatly said there would be a strike if they did not get a real eight-hour day.

Now it is believed the brotherhoods will be content to await a test of constitutionalality of the Adamson eight-hour measure. The brotherhoods, however, are shrouding their movements in an even deeper secrecy than that which marked their program when they threatened to strike last summer.

Today the brotherhood chiefs are in Baltimore to speak before the American Federation of Labor convention—a move that portends co-operation between them and the railway department of the federation, to force an eight-hour day in all branches of rail road service.

At the same time, the department of justice and the brotherhoods' legal department are ready for the opening of the Adamson tests Thursday, when the Union Pacific and Santa Fe start their suits at Kansas City. The course taken by the court in these cases will be vital and upon its action will probably rest the final decision of the brotherhoods as to whether there shall be a strike.

The question of wages has been minimized to date, but when the brotherhood leaders returned they probably will ask a hearing and precipitate sharp discussion on that point.

BREAKS A COLD IN A FEW HOURS

First dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" relieves all gripe misery.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and sniffling! A dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" taken every two hours until three doses are taken will end gripe misery and break up a severe cold either in the head, chest, body or limbs.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages; stops nasty discharge or nose running; relieves sick headache, dizziness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

"Pape's Cold Compound" is the quickest, surest relief known and costs only 25 cents at drug stores. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Don't accept a substitute.

Congress in the next session pass measures permitting American manufacturers to cooperate in restraint of trade in foreign fields. He said this was the only way American industries could retain their foreign trade after peace in Europe is declared.

His address in part follows:

"Altogether the most serious development in Europe so far as we are concerned is the increasing centralization of economic resources and finances. Regulation of trade and commerce has been a feature of past wars. In no way, however has that regulation gone further than in the present conflict. For example, Great Britain subsidizes a commercial banking organization in Italy. Great Britain has arranged to buy the Australian zinc ore output during the war and for ten years thereafter. Great Britain has lent its support to an Anglo-Russian Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of promoting commerce between Russia and Great Britain. And now Great Britain proposes, more important and far-reaching than the others, to support a new kind of British trading bank which will endeavor to build up in a practical way through financial support Great Britain's foreign trade.

"It may be that with the conclusion of the war this centralization of economic resources will cease. I am inclined to believe, however, that during the periods of reconstruction the Governments of Europe will take over many functions that were formerly exercised by individuals and groups of individuals, and will regulate more and more in detail the movements and operations of industry, commerce, and finance. I look forward to an increased centralization of purchasing. I look forward to closer cooperation between Government and business in Europe. Already in certain lines we are dealing with combines of European purchasers. This was true before the outbreak of the war. It is likely to be true after the war. And these combines already started in Europe, and those which have been formed during the war are likely to affect very seriously the industries and markets of the United States.

"Cooperation in this country for purposes of foreign trade is a real necessity under these circumstances, and I believe that a measure will be passed at the next session of Congress that will permit our manufacturers to cooperate for the purpose of developing our foreign trade. This will put them on a basis similar to that of the manufacturers and exporters of other countries and will enable us, perhaps more than any other thing, to meet effectively the growing centralization of economic resources in foreign countries.

"We can not expect to hold our present dominant position in foreign trade until we realize fully the importance of such trade. Too many people, especially in the Middle West, have looked upon foreign orders as a side issue, convenient and profitable, but not at all necessary. The war has changed this attitude somewhat. 'Out here in the grain country, you know now what export trade can do for prices. You were able to get record prices for record crops. What would have happened to prices if you had had no foreign outlet for your unusually big crops? Just what happened to the cotton belt when its foreign trade was suddenly cut down at the start of the war.'

"It is true that our foreign trade is only a small part of our total business—it is estimated at 5 to 10 per cent. But it is a mighty important 5 or 10 per cent. It often means the difference between prosperity and stagnation. It is a great stabilizer of business conditions. A firm with a prosperous foreign trade department can depend on foreign orders to keep its wheels going when things are slumping at home. The war has made this all plain enough, and nowhere have the benefits of foreign trade been more noticeable than out here in the Middle West."

IN "THE GREAT LOVER"

The supreme event of the dramatic season is the engagement of Mr. Leo Dittrichstein in "The Great Lover," which comes to the Park Square Theatre, Boston, on Monday, Nov. 27, for a limited engagement. This is a great play that has been awaited with the keenest of interest by those well versed in dramatic affairs. It comes from a whole year's engagement in New York and three months in Chicago, this being the third city in which he plays. In this regard it is announced that this is the only city in New England in which Mr. Dittrichstein will appear.

In "The Great Lover," Leo Dittrichstein not only has the best comedy of his artistic career behind the footlights, but a remarkably interesting and individual character which he plays to perfection. In the play he is Jean Parel, a great baritone who has sung and acted and been pitted in all the great capitals of the world for five and twenty years. He has become so great that he can say who shall or shall not slug with him. He is so great a favorite that newspaper critics delight in calculating how much he is paid for every note that issues from his golden throat. He is the spoiled prince in that society, gossipy, jealousy-bitten little kingdom behind the scenes of a big Metropolitan grand opera house, where, on the stage, he is the greatest Don Giovanni of them all.

You see him in the days of his power and you see him at the tragic hour, when, quite suddenly, his voice leaves him at the tragic hour, when, quite suddenly, his voice leaves him and he must stand aside and hear the acclaim with which the great public and all the people of his little world greet the young fellow with the fresher voice who has stood waiting in the wings for the opportunity.

The role runs the gamut of human emotions and Mr. Dittrichstein rises to the height of his powers in the interpretation. As to the play, it has been deftly woven into a delightful story by the sure touch of a master-pen.

There will be given an extra matinee on Thanksgiving day. The regular matinees during this engagement will be on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Mail orders will be given prompt and careful attention.

U. S. DEFENCES INEFFICIENT BY 2,000 AIRSHIPS

HEAD OF AERO CLUB SAYS COUNTRY NEEDS THAT MANY TO BE REASONABLY SAFE.

New York, Nov. 21.—Declaring that the United States army and navy are blind, Alan R. Hawley, president of the Aero Club of America, today pointed to the record-breaking Chicago to New York flight of Miss Ruth Law and other great stunts recently shown in the development of aviation here as an indication that "eyes" for the country's fighting forces are now available. The development, however, has been through private enterprise, and he declared failure of the government to increase its aerial forces would be a menace to our national safety.

"We lack 2000 aeroplanes, a dozen dirigibles and 125 kite balloons for observation work. We lack them as needed national defenses and to place this country aerially where it belongs," said Hawley.

The head of the British admiralty, Lord Balfour, recently said what might well be heeded by us: "It avails England nothing to have control of the sea unless it has control of the air."

The splendid records recently made by Miss Law, Carlstrom, border fliers and others in private enterprise prove that it is not lack of good aeroplanes and aviators that keeps our army and navy blind.

"While half a dozen other countries have between 2000 and 9000 aviators each, and twice as many aeroplanes, our army and navy combined have only about 100 flying men.

"The 43 batteries of field artillery and the 73 forts in the six coast artillery districts have not a single aeroplane, dirigible or observation balloon. They are blind and the territory which they should protect would be at the mercy of the long range of vessels lying beyond the point of vision of the artillery observers stationed in the forts. Hundreds of millions of dollars are invested in these coast defenses and field artillery which would be ineffective without artillery eyes.

"In these days of trans-Atlantic submarines eyes for our navy are absolutely necessary. A chain of aerial stations should be established throughout the country. Each of our 13 coast naval districts should have a station."

OLDEST CITIZEN OBSERVES HIS 94TH BIRTHDAYJ. Wiley Coleman Reads the Daily Papers and Takes a Keen Interest in Happenings of the Day.

J. Wiley Coleman, the oldest male resident of the city, on Wednesday quietly observed the 94th anniversary of his birth at the home of his son, Fred B. Coleman on State street with whom he resides. Mr. Coleman is unusually active for one of his years.

He passed the summer at Lake Wentworth, Wolfeboro, at the cottage of his son, and while he does not walk about so much as in the past years, he enjoyed the out door life there and passed much of the time sitting out of doors. He was able to be out on the recent election day and cast his vote. He was born in this city, the son of the late Joseph and Olive Coleman. He learned the carpenter's trade with his father and is rather proud of the fact that he framed the North church steeple in 1834 and built the forms for the big chimney of the Portsmouth Machine company. He was employed for many years on the navy yard. Mr. Coleman is senior deacon of the Court Street Christian church and was a constant attendant at the church services until his health began to fail and his hearing became seriously affected. His eyesight is very good as he reads the headlines of the newspapers without the aid of glasses and can read all the papers contain when wearing his glasses and is much interested in the news of the day.

He is the oldest member of New Hampshire Lodge, I. O. O. F. Besides his son Mr. Coleman has one daughter, wife of Rev. John E. Everingham of Everett, Mass., and several grandchildren.

THE HERALD HEARS

That some of the live stock passing through this city for the Brighton stock yards should be handled differently.

That the Portsmouth Driving club says it is going to get busy on the speedway just as soon as the snow will permit.

That saloons in Chicago have cut down the size of beer glasses.

That only two-thirds of the former amount is now sold for a nickel.

That lunch rooms have also put it onto the public with an increase in the price of a feed.

That the Chicago health department has devised a menu, food which costs less than 40 cents per day, which will be tried out by a squad of 12 for a fortnight.

That the Democrats are going to put it in red, at Rye tonight.

That some owners of horses might make a Christmas present of a blanket to their animals.

That Peter Morris, a former employ of a local tannery has returned from his native home in Greece.

That he says that country is in bad shape.

That there is practically no government and that both English and French money has the upper hand there.

That the beautiful city of Athens is in a terrible state.

That Peter is glad to get back to America and will go in business in Biddeford or Saco.

That the telegraph and telephone companies claim that the damage of wires along the railroads by gas from locomotives, is astonishing and that the lines in railroad yards, especially will have to go under ground.

That the Dover city election takes place on Tuesday next.

That many a woman will not listen to a man's excuses but something happens if he does not offer them.

That a Somerville man is evidently attempting to produce stiff sausages.

That he paid $20 in police court for having too much starch in the mixed matter under the skin.

That the measles is keeping several children away from school.

That Frank Forgan, a young man from North Hampton, went home to England a month ago and has joined the British army.

That the Republicans are talking of Charles A. Allen for councilman from Ward Two.

That Germany has about 35,000 women and France 32,000 employed on railroads since the war broke out.

That women represent from 10 to 16 per cent of the total number of persons employed on French railroads before the war. In Germany they represent between 6 and 7 per cent.

That Portsmouth Democrats are to retain the rooms in Freeman's Block during the city campaign.

That $2,712,782 worth of pins were manufactured in this country last year.

That there are young men who have passed the summer evenings in the porch swing who are convinced the girl with him wears about $53 worth of them.

That fruit agents say they killed 28,000,000 caterpillar eggs last year and fruit had an excellent growth. However the man that throws banana peel on the sidewalk and rocks the boat escaped.

WILL MARRY AT ALBANY ON DEC. 6Cards Announcing Coming Wedding of Former Resident Reach This City.

Cards announcing the coming marriage of Basil H. Anglin and Miss Marie Theresa Tracy, daughter of Mrs. Charles Tracy of Albany, N. Y., have been received in this city. The wedding will occur at 4 o'clock on Dec. 6, at the cathedral on Madison avenue in that city. The prospective groom was a former resident of this city and several years connected with the Frank Jones Brewing Company as superintendent and brewmaster.

SOLICITOR HATCH MEETS WITH ACCIDENTDislocates Bone of Left Arm and Also Tears the Ligaments.

County Solicitor Albert R. Hatch met with a painful accident while leaving his home in Greenland on Wednesday morning by falling on the ice. As he fell, he struck on his left arm, sustaining a dislocation of one of the bones and also tearing the ligaments. He was taken to the hospital where an X-ray was made of the injury. The accident prevented the taking up of the civil suit of Hett vs. R. B. Phillips Manufacturing Co. in the superior court. Mr. Hatch will be obliged to give his left arm complete rest for some time.

LETTER SENT TO THIS CITY LEADS TO FINDING BOYLad Ran Away Because Mother Reproved Him for Breaking Glass.

Louis J. Smith, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Smith of No. 83 Central avenue, Lowell, who disappeared on October 21, returned home on Tuesday. He was found on a farm owned by Fred Otter, three and a half miles outside of Peabody. He was traced by means of a letter written to a friend in Portsmouth by Leo Moran, who notified him working on the farm. Young Smith said he left his home because his mother reproved him for breaking a glass.

LOUISE GLAUM with CHARLES RAY in
"THE WOLF WOMAN"

A TRIANGLE KAY BEE THOMAS INCE SPECIAL PRODUCTION
The greatest "vampire" play ever produced for the screen. The Wolf Woman is a modern siren and not like the "Rag and a Bone" the classic tells about. The lights and shadows of this story are painted in scarlet tones with a brush that had been dipped in the scorching vat of passion. The author has no mercy on the "Wolf Woman" and crowns her career of self glorification and malicious destruction with ruin and disfigurement. Miss Glaum wears ten sensational gowns costing more than $25,000.

Note—Saturday Evening Performance Starts at 6.30

If you're looking for style, quality and intrinsic value in your new overcoat you'll "fall" for one of ours. Overcoats tailored by Stein-Block and Kuppenheimer, which we show, guarantee you the top notch of style as they are the work of experts. They guarantee you quality as they make only high grade garments, and we can guarantee you value for your money from the fact that our order for these coats was placed nearly a year ago, which means to you the old prices.

Henry Peyser & Son"Selling the Togs of the Period."PACKARD PIANOS"If there is no Harmony in the Factory, there will be none in the Piano."

Why pay more when you can't get more?

No piano can have better built-in quality than the PACKARD. The finest materials, the most wonderful machinery, the Greatest Care have all been embodied in making the Packard a Quality Piano.

There isn't a single part of the PACKARD that is inferior—nothing about it that is a makeshift. The Packard, therefore, is The Highest Quality first, because you are not asked to pay for reputation or spend your money for something other than you can get in return.

The Packard can be examined in every detail at any time by any one at

Shoes for Young Men--and Old Men Who Stay Young

The "Scout"$5.00

We honestly believe the "Scout" to be the greatest value ever offered in a man's shoe at $5.00. It's good looking and comfortable, has a soft feel you'll appreciate and seems to be just right for most every normal foot.

The "Cress Club".....$5.00

The "Cress Club" is mellow in color, a shade darker than a chummy briar pipe. Mellow in feel, like a glove. One of the few soft leathers strong enough for hard wear. If you want a good sound shoe this fall, come in and ask to see the "Cress Club."
